Effective Questioning

JPAS Connection:

Domain II: Delivering Instruction

Indicator 27: Higher Order Questions
Effective teachers ask higher-order questions to promote learning

Here are some ideas to try:

- Do a question-asking audit (What kind of questions do you ask?)
- Build a question-asking tool kit
- Develop a question-asking style (phrasing and word choice, emotional tone, wait time)
- Prepare questions in advance
- Think about the sequence of questions
- Use alternatives to “Are there any questions?”
- Provide adequate background information
